This was an assignment from my art class at school - Nature Studies with Cyanotypes - where we had to draw from observation in the natural world. My Grandma Silla was forever inspired by the natural world and always saw beauty everywhere.